- ♦ John once asked a psychiatrist friend of his the following question - How do you teach people to care for others? He answered the question by asking one of his own: Did you ever have a toothache? Of whom you were you thinking during the discomfort of your toothache? His point very clear. When we are in pain even if it is only the passing discomfort of an aching tooth, we are thinking only of ourselves. John's friend continued: "This is a painfilled world in which we are living. And the pains that reside deep in the human heart are not like toothaches. We go to bed with them at night, and we wake with them in the morning. This is a pain filled world and so a loveless world that we live in. Most human beings are so turned in on themselves by their own pain that they cannot go out in caring for others.

Make me a channel of your peace

Where there is hatred let me bring your love
Where there is injury, your pardon Lord And where there is doubt true faith in You

Oh, Master grant that I may never seek So much to be consoled as to console
To be understood as to understand To be loved as to love with all my soul
